

DCA Outdoor Acquires Nursery Supply Division of Kansas City-Based Columbia Burlap & Bag Company

– Acquisition Expands DCA Outdoor Family’s Commitment to Cohesively Servicing the Green Industry –

Kansas City, MO – December 1, 2017 – DCA Outdoor, a family of companies that provide unparalleled production and vertical integration in the green industry, announced today that they have acquired the nursery supply division of Columbia Burlap & Bag Company. Since its launch in 1950, Columbia Burlap & Bag Company has become highly-regarded in the green industry for its outstanding product line and customer service. Under the terms of the acquisition, the nursery supply division has been rebranded to PlantRight Supply, and will continue Columbia’s commitment to servicing the needs of nursery professionals.

“Columbia Burlap & Bag has a long-standing reputation for excellence and quality, both of which influenced our decision to bring their nursery supply division into the DCA Outdoor family of companies,” said Tory Schwope, Founder and President of DCA Outdoor. “We are honored to continue Columbia’s unrivaled level of service, as well as expand capabilities and deliver first-rate solutions for nursery and green industry professionals alike.”

Optimizing the Green Industry

Through the newly branded PlantRight Supply company, DCA Outdoor furthers its commitment to aligning efficiencies across their existing and growing network of customers, and moves one step closer toward its long long-term vision of cohesion in the green industry. By providing a range of services and solutions for professionals in the landscape industry who utilize nursery supplies, DCA Outdoor continues its innovative approach to optimizing the green industry.

“DCA Outdoor is leading the green industry in an exciting direction, one marked by innovation, integration and cohesion,” said Marc Radasky, President, Columbia Burlap & Bag Company. “We are excited that Tory and his talented team at DCA Outdoor share our passion for providing solutions and services to nursery and green industry professionals, and trust that they will take PlantRight Supply in a direction of continued growth.”

The acquisition brings a total of nine brands into the family of companies owned and operated by DCA Outdoor. Our areas of expertise now include nursery stock production, nursery supply distribution, wholesale landscape/hardscape distribution, retail garden centers, agritourism, and transportation. For more information about the DCA Outdoor family of brands, please visit www.dcaoutdoor.com, join the conversation on LinkedIn, and follow us on Facebook @DCAOutdoor.

About DCA Outdoor

DCA Outdoor was founded in 2016 by Tory Schwope. With a mission to create a family of green industry companies that provide unparalleled production and vertical integration, DCA Outdoor serves as the parent company for a family of nine brands including Anna Evergreen, Brehob Nurseries, Colonial Gardens, KAT Wholesale Outdoor, PlantRight, PlantRight Supply, Schwope Brothers Tree Farms, Utopian Plants and Utopian Transport. Focused on integrating nursery stock production with distribution, transportation, and sales and marketing, DCA Outdoor creates a more efficient and sustainable operation positioned for long-term success.

DCA Outdoor is committed to nurturing the careers of green industry professionals and is actively recruiting new hires. Professionals who are interested in joining our team are encouraged to read about the current openings and opportunities by visiting www.dcaoutdoor.com/careers. For more information or to discuss your green industry needs, please visit www.dcaoutdoor.com or email info@dcaoutdoor.com.